In this three-hour workshop expert flintknapper Sam Greenleaf demonstrates and teaches how to make arrowheads and spear points out of obsidian and other stones.

He provides insights into how ancient peoples made and used stone tools, and provides hands-on experience in making and recognizing stone artifacts.

All necessary equipment is provided. Limited to six participants. Persons under age 16 can enroll if parent or guardian also enrolls.

Register for the workshop for hands-on instruction in how to produce a flaked stone tool using a hammerstone to break a desired size of flake off of a core of rock, thinning and shaping the flake into a projectile point or other stone implement using an antler tool, and finishing the artifact using pressure flaking.

This activity is designed to help modern people understand how early peoples made and used tools. It is not intended to train people how to make crafts for sale.
