Instructed by Archaeologist Allen Dart, RPA
Executive Director, Old Pueblo Archaeology Center

Wednesday evenings 6:30-8:30 pm (Arizona/Mountain Standard Time)
September 3-December 10, 2025 (No class on October 22)

Explore the American Southwest's ancient Hohokam archaeological culture. In 14 sessions (total 28 hours) the class provides an up-to-date review of southern Arizona's Hohokam culture for anyone interested in southwestern archaeology. The instructor,

Registered Professional Archaeologist Allen Dart, discusses Hohokam origins, material culture (including ceramics, other artifacts, architecture, and petroglyphs), subsistence and settlement systems, social and organizational systems, social interaction and exchange within and beyond the Hohokam culture's regional boundaries, and ideas about Hohokam religion. All class sessions are online via Zoom.

The class can be taken for Arizona Archaeological Society (AAS) Certification. The AAS's basic Archaeology of the Southwest class is recommended as a prerequisite but this is negotiable with the instructor. Participants seeking the AAS Certification are expected to prepare a brief research report on some aspect of the Hohokam archaeological culture. See box below for more information about the AAS Certification program.

The Arizona Archaeological Society (AAS) Training, Certification and Education Program (TCEP) is designed with help from professional archaeologists to give training in various aspects of archaeology outside an academic degree program. Because many of the program's courses provide field experience in addition to classroom training, students can develop those skills to become qualified and valuable members of archaeological projects. For students who join the Certification program, AAS keeps records of courses taken and issues certificates upon successful completion of course requirements.

To enroll in the AAS TCEP program an individual must be a member of the Arizona Archaeological Society (AAS), complete the Certification Program Application form, and pay AAS a one-time fee of $10. When the application is accepted, the Department Recorder will establish a file in the individual's name to maintain a permanent record of qualifications. As each course is completed the applicant will receive a certificate that the instructor will sign, and the individual becomes certified in that aspect of archaeology.

AAS members and others who are not seeking certification may take these courses without joining the TCEP. For complete information on the TCEP go to Certification Program under Activities on the AAS website: <http://www.azarchsoc.org>.

AAS is a separate organization from Old Pueblo Archaeology Center.
